

Programs at a Glance

Founded in 2009 by Chef Ann Cooper, the Chef Ann Foundation (CAF) believes that every child should have access to fresh, healthy food every day—food that inspires the development of lifelong healthy eating habits. By providing school communities with tools, training, resources and funding, CAF is able to help schools create healthier food and redefine lunchroom environments. Learn more about all of these programs by visiting www.chefannfoundation.org.

Get Schools Cooking

A program that provides hands-on support through assessment, in-person training, strategic planning and system grants, allowing school districts to serve healthier food.

The Lunch Box

An online resource with free step-by-step guides, tools and recipes to help schools improve their food programs and transition to scratch-cooking in an easy and accessible way.

Parent Advocacy Initiative

An online resource that provides parents with support and educational tools to lead grassroots advocacy efforts in their school districts.

A grant program that helps schools increase kids' access to fresh fruits and vegetables while providing nutrition education through fun lunchroom learning activities.

Salad Bars to Schools

A grant program that helps schools serve fresh fruits and vegetables to students by implementing salad bars as part of their daily meal program.

School Food Institute

Online courses that give school food service professionals and child nutrition advocates in-depth training, operational skills and strategic vision necessary to make school food fresh and healthy.